

Financial Markets Daily

Main drivers for the financial markets today...

- Stock markets down, government bond yields down, and the USD is slightly stronger amid a risk off session following concerns over the latest escalation in Russia's war against Ukraine. President Putin signed a decree allowing Russia to fire nuclear weapons in response to a massive conventional attack
- For the rest of the trading session, releases include housing starts and building permits (Oct) in the US. At night, China will inform one- and five-year loan prime rates
- Market attention this week on PMI indicators for November in the Eurozone, United Kingdom, Germany, and the US. On the other hand, investors will remain focused on key posts appointed by Donald Trump ahead of the start of his second presidential mandate
- In monetary policy, relatively light agenda, with decisions only in Turkey, South Africa, and Egypt. Speeches from Fed and ECB members will continue. Going to the events, the G20 Summit in Rio de Janeiro is taking place through November 19th, along with the European Banking Congress
- The rest of the agenda in the US includes existing home sales (Oct) and the Philly Fed manuf. indicator (Nov). In other regions, we note consumer confidence (Nov) in the Eurozone, along with inflation (Oct) in the UK. Mexican markets were closed yesterday in remembrance of Revolution Day. Data in coming days includes the Timely Indicator of Economic Activity (Oct), retail sales, the monthly GDP-proxy IGAE (Sep), inflation (1H-Nov), final 3Q24 GDP, and the banking sector survey of expectations

Equities

- Widespread declines in the main stock indexes. This week the flow of corporate reports will slow down with the results of 10 companies, where investors will be particularly attentive to the results of Nvidia and Target tomorrow
- In the US, futures anticipate a negative opening, with the S&P 500 trading 0.3% below its theoretical value. Walmart (+4.5% pre-market) raised its revenue guidance again, driven by a solid performance in e-commerce and better overall sales growth. Meanwhile, Europe trades with losses and the Eurostoxx falls 1.1%, dragged down by the industrial and consumer discretionary stocks
- In Mexico, operations will resume after yesterday's holiday. We expect a trading range for the Mexbol Index between 49,800 and 51,300pts for the rest of the week

Sovereign fixed income, currencies and commodities

- Positive balance in sovereign bonds. In Europe, 10-year rates decrease 3bps, on average. Meanwhile, the Treasuries' curve advances 5bps at the belly and the long-end. Last week, the Mbonos' curve averaged an adjustment of -5bps. The 10-year benchmark closed at 9.95% (-4bps)

- The energy sector retreats with crude-oil futures falling as Europe's largest oilfield gradually restarted following a power outage, concerns around Chinese demand and plentiful global supply. In metals, gold rises 0.9% and copper falls 0.2%

Corporate Debt

- This week we expect the auction of two long-term corporate bonds by Organización Soriana (SORIANA 24, MXN 3.0 billion) and Fimubac (FIMUBCB 24, MXN 2.0 billion)
- Grupo Aeroportuario del Centro Norte (OMA) informed that it contracted short-term bank loans for an aggregate amount of MXN 600 million. The loans maturity dates are up to May 2025 and will pay a weighted average interest rate of TIIE-28 + 60bps
- Compañía Minera Autlán reported that it closed a US$160 million syndicated loan, divided into a US$130 million tranche with a seven-year term, and a revolving working capital facility
